Dear Families,

We have had an amazing week of learning in The Maples!

The Maples have finished making their Viking shields! They look fantastic; the children have worked really hard on them and are very proud of their finished work. Please take to twitter to check some of them out!

In Literacy this week, the children have created informative posters about Viking longships. This has been the culmination of a week's worth of research, planning and editing. They have found out lots of really interesting facts about longships, which I hope they share with you.

In Maths, The Maples have been working on equivalent fractions as well as comparing and ordering fractions. They have been using a variety of methods to show their understanding, such as labelled working out, pictures and a bar model.

In P.E., The Maples have started to learn about a new invasion game, Dodgeball! They enjoyed practising the different types of throws and passes in small groups. Some groups progressed to having two or three balls all at once. They learnt that communication is key!

The Maples came back to class on Thursday afternoon very excited after meeting their new class teacher for Year 4. It sounds like they had lots of fun and already looking forward to September!

Best wishes,

Have a lovely weekend,

Miss Conibere
